The Company acknowledges that there may be genuine alcoholism and drug addiction illnesses and accepts that it may need to facilitate treatment and / or assistance under special circumstances.

It is also the Company policy that;

- None of the above illnesses should be an excuse for intoxication and its consequences;
- Sick employees have a responsibility to ensure their speedy return to health and to work, adherence to performance standards, meeting of deadlines, proper conduct and protection of their employer and others from the consequences of their condition;
- Illness is not an automatic excuse for misconduct or poor performance;

They will also be subject to incapacity procedures, which if unsuccessful in resolving the issue, could lead to termination of the employee's employment;
- There are circumstances where the use of alcohol whilst at work may be authorised, for example, the authorised holding of social functions or entertainment of clients, where alcohol use has been approved. However, even in such cases the abuse of alcohol (or any substances) to the extent of intoxication or unacceptable behaviours shall not be tolerated;
- Employees, who breach the content or spirit of the policy, will be subject to disciplinary measures in terms of the Company's disciplinary policy and risk termination of their employment.

Alcohol and drug tests may be performed when an employee is suspected to be using or appears to be under the influence of intoxicating liquor or habit-forming drugs whilst on duty or when reporting for duty.
